Industry professional and Course Director, Dr Roger Mills, combines theory with real-life case studies in this inspirational eight unit programme. When you return to work you will:

- Be confident in the core principles of private equity and how they have developed today from both for-profit and not-for profit perspectives.
- Have grasped the finance life cycle in influencing the nature and substance of private equity activity.
- Know how to evaluate and value the different types of synergies and/or control benefits arising from a proposed investment or acquisition and demonstrate them quantitatively.
- Be able to apply best practice principles to manage an investment or acquired business to create value for a potentially successful exit.

This course has been produced in partnership with The University of Middlesex. Upon completing this training course you will receive a postgraduate certificate.
